About Me

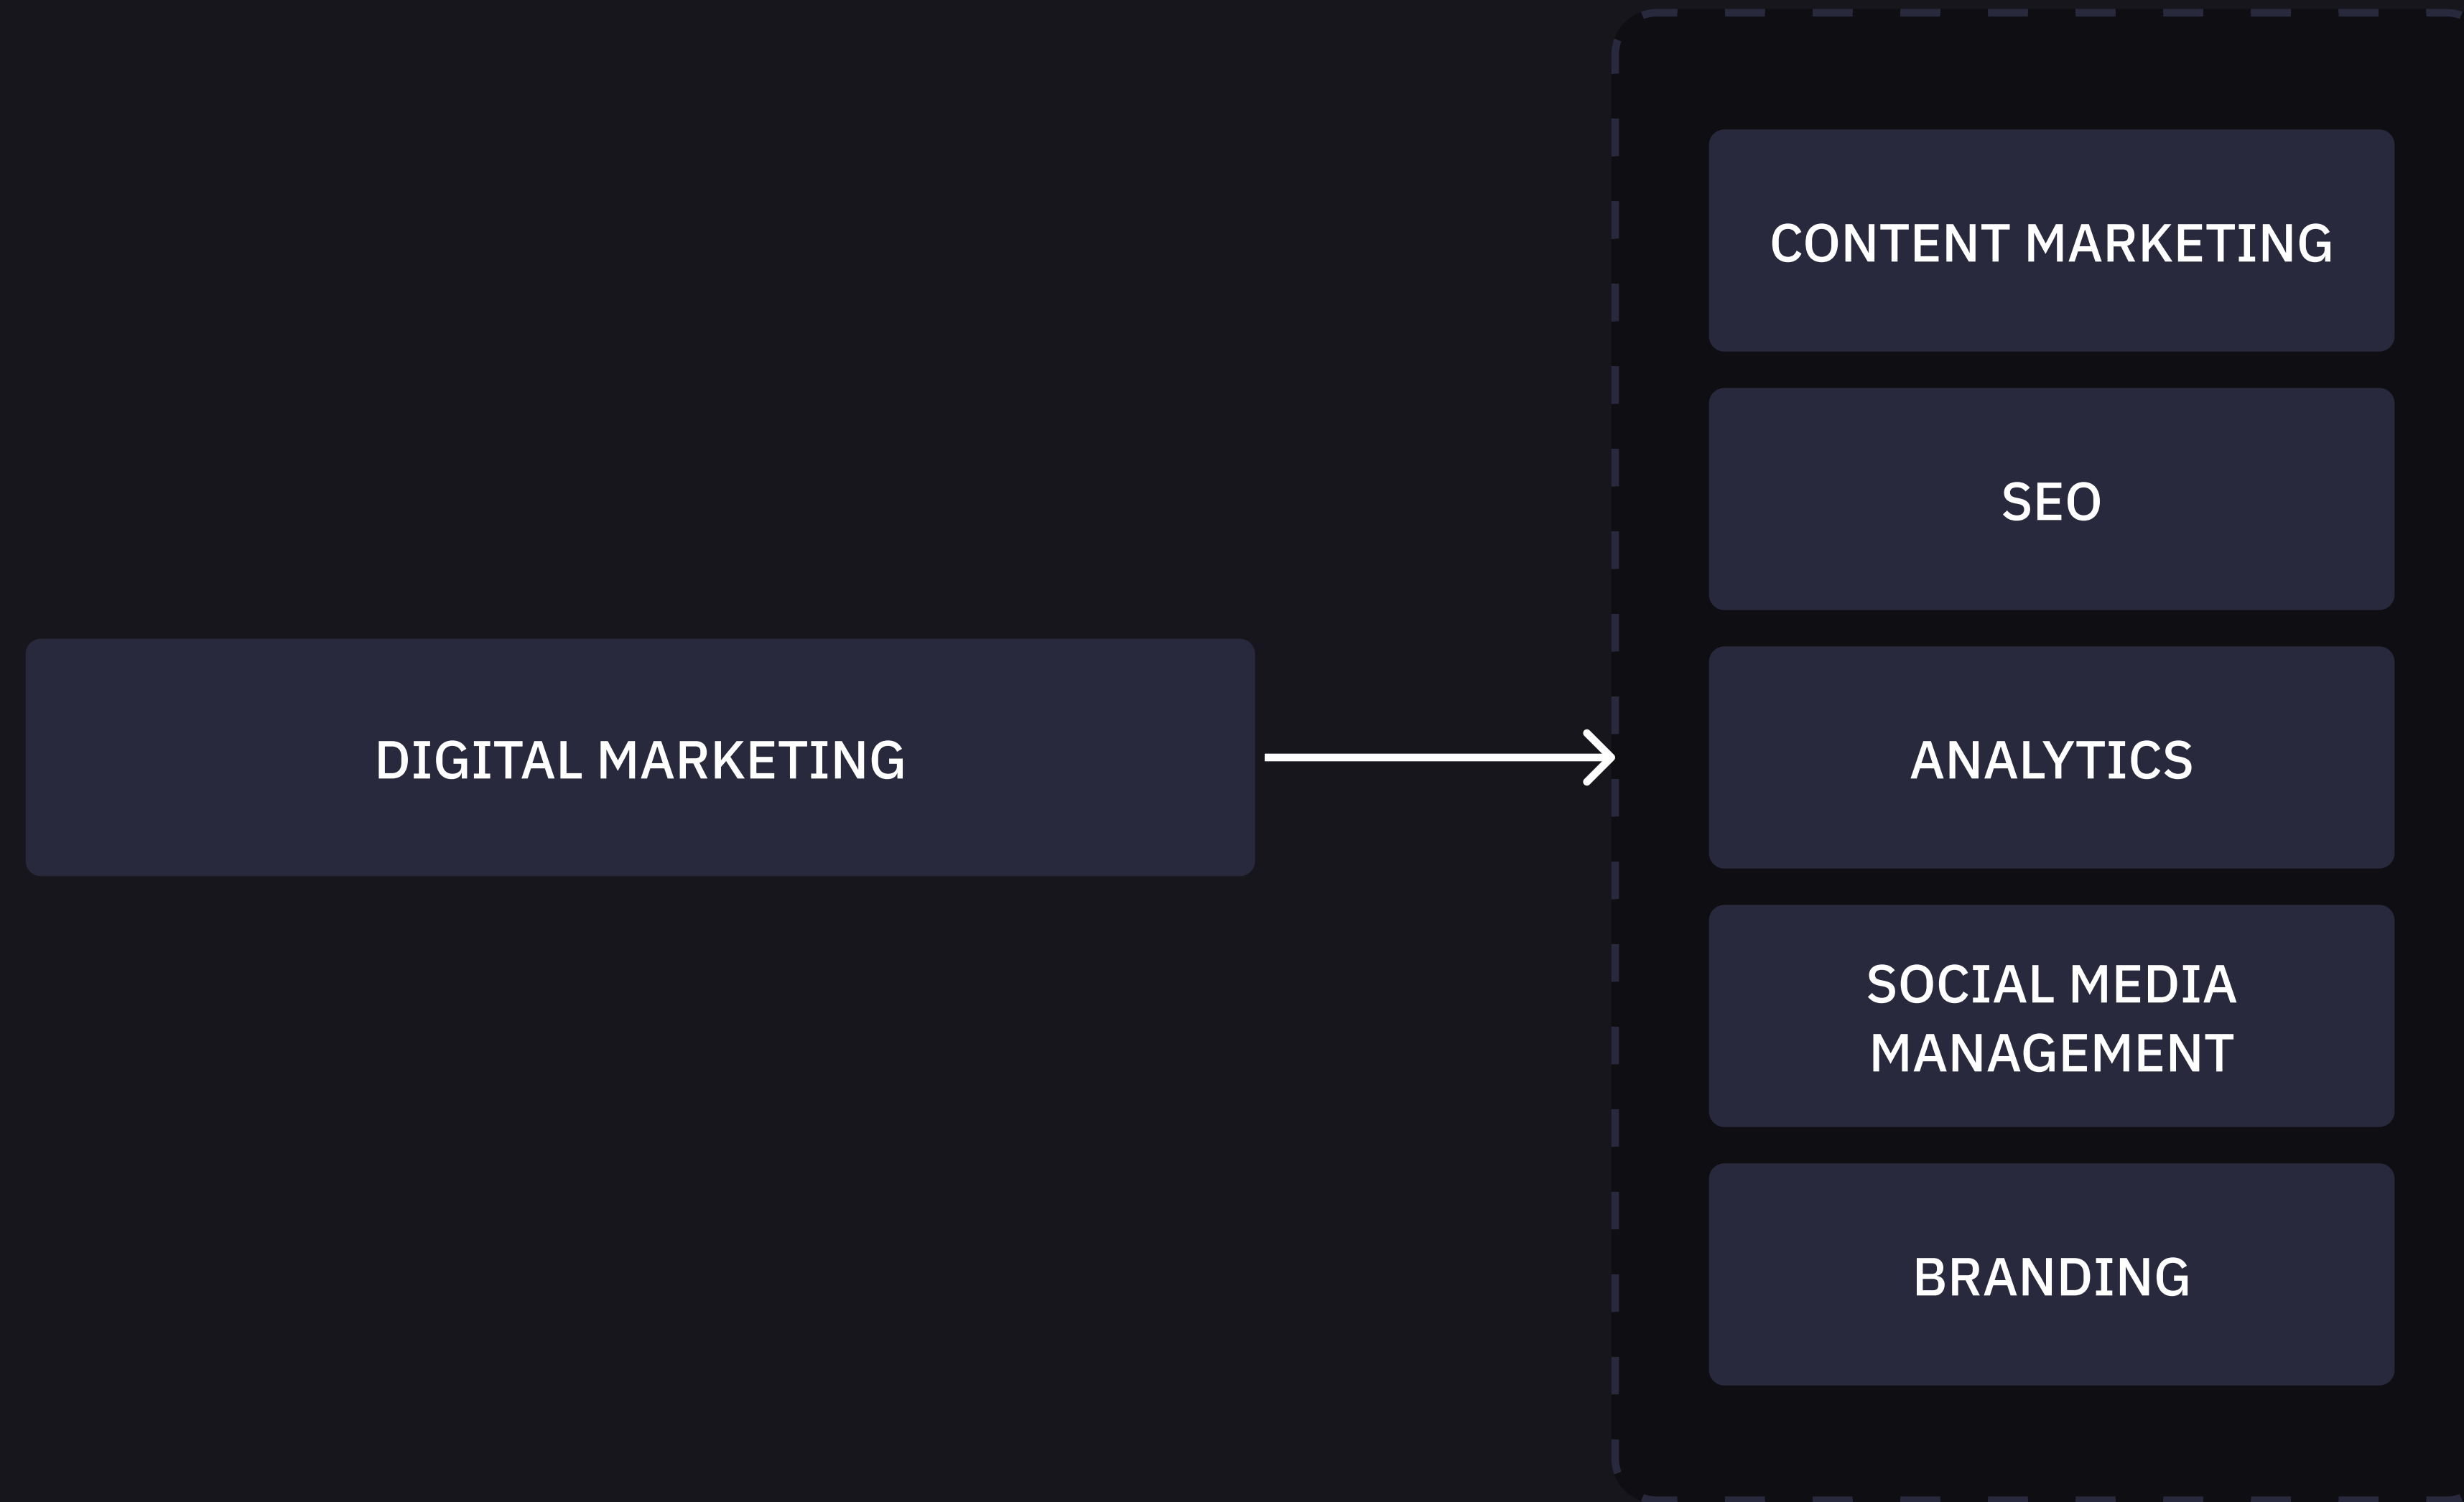

Web Designer and SEO specialist with a background in Computer Engineering, focused on building responsive websites that turn visitors into customers - not just traffic into numbers.

I design and develop multifunctional websites and platforms, with a strong focus on user experience, clean site architecture, and visual design that reflects a brand's quality. Alongside this, I apply SEO and data-driven marketing strategies to support long-term growth - work that has contributed to measurable results, including a 15% annual increase in sales for one business I collaborated with.

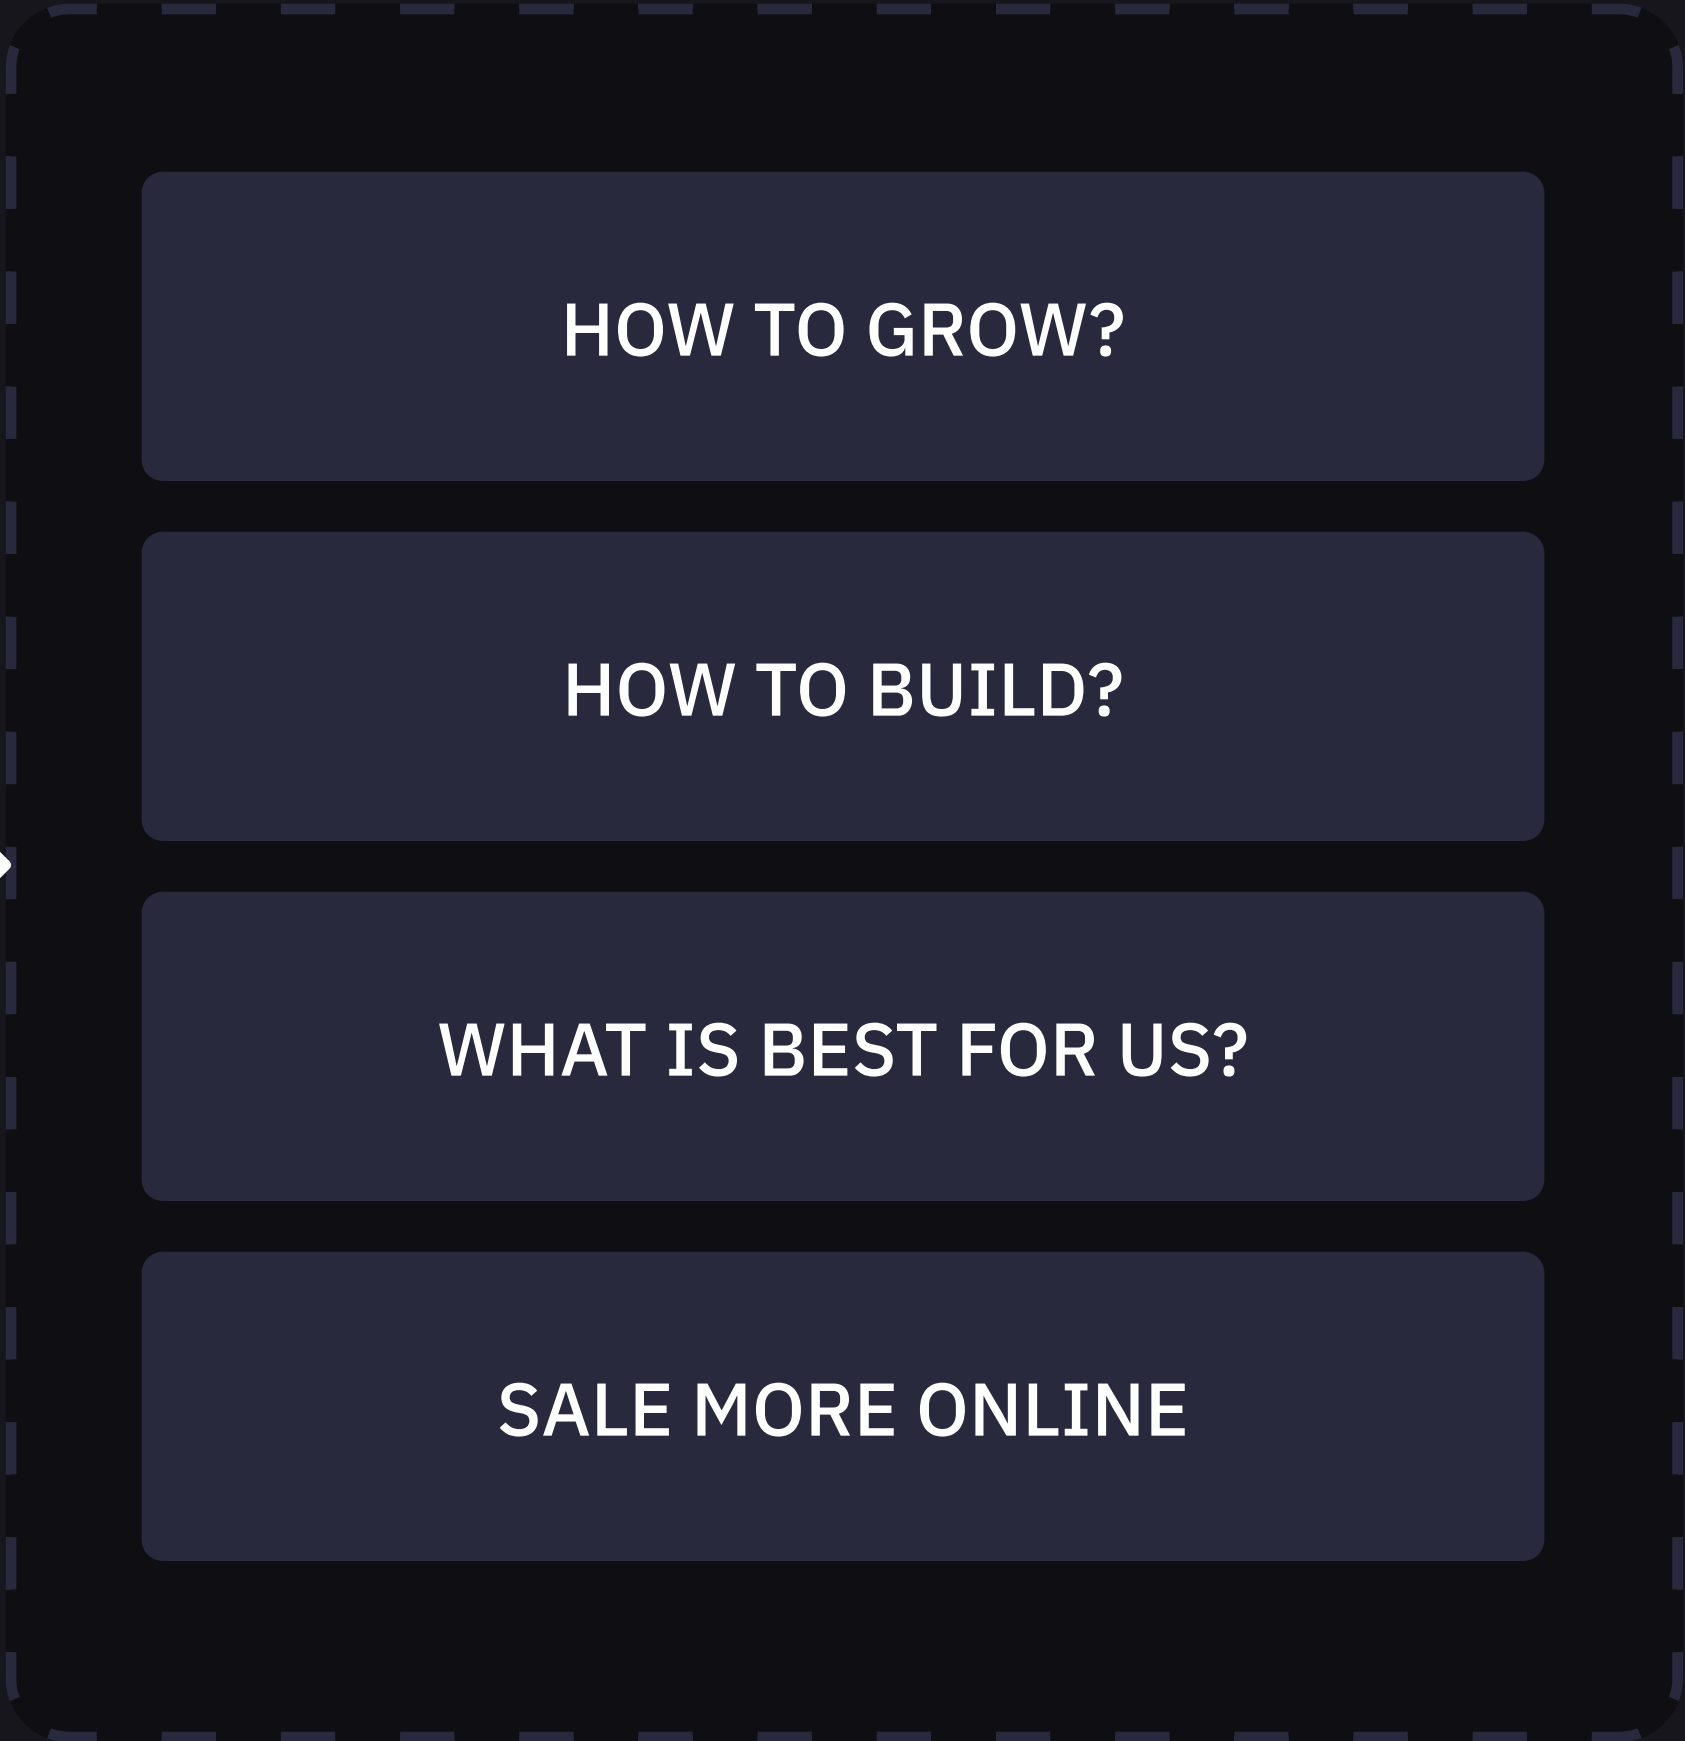

WHAT I DO?!

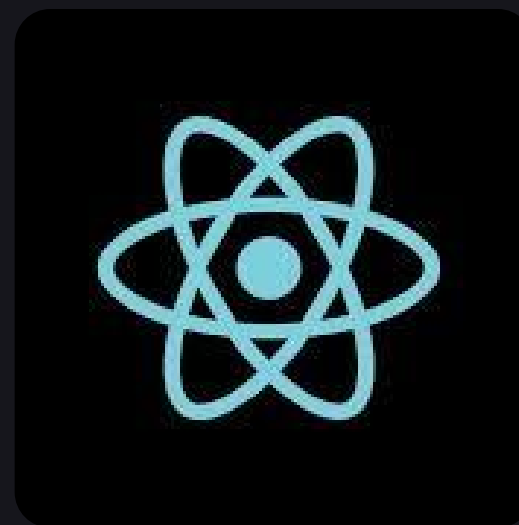

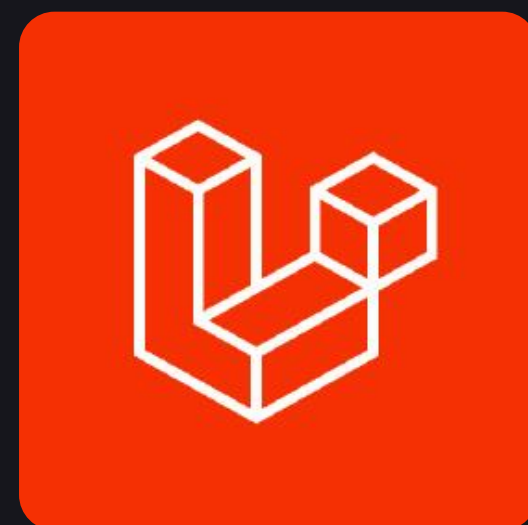

CONSULTING

Technology I Use
